

CRUINNEWS

March 2025

Join us for our sixth annual gathering
June 5th – June 8th, 2025

Registration is now open at www.gulfcoastirish.org

Greetings all,

Happy St. Patrick's! There's always lots of good music to be had in March for we lovers of Irish Trad! While March will be busy, we are working up an event in April at our host pub here in Houston. We have partnered with the Hugh O'Connors management team along with the good folk over at Glendalough Distillers to present a whiskey tasting event on Sunday, April 6th from 4-7 pm. There will be live music, dancers from the Irish Dance troupe of Clann Kelly, and of course, some fine whiskeys and gin. The Hugh O'Connor's bartenders also pour a proper pint of Guinness! This is a fundraising event for the Cruinniú to offset our considerable expense in putting on the June event. You can find details and purchase advance tickets here gulfcoastirish.org/whiskey

Cruinniú event registration continues. We find ourselves with just a few rooms left in the campus dorms. If you want to stay close to the action, this is the best way to do it. The dorms have private baths, climate control, refrigerator, and microwave and are well-secured. They provide a close retreat to nap, return e-mails, or simply to freshen up. We got great feedback from students this past year. Sign-up now to take advantage of this great option.

More to come next month as we close in on the June event!

Slán!

Glendalough Whiskey Tasting

Sunday, April 6th

The bottles shown are for illustration purposes only.
These may not necessarily be the spirits served at the event.

On Sunday April 6th, the kind folks at Hugh O'Connors, Dincans are partnering with Glendalough Distillery to host a whiskey tasting. All proceeds from the event will go to offsetting the considerable expense incurred putting on the Gulf Coast Cruinniú. Glendalough is a craft distiller located in the Wicklow Mountains in Ireland and this tasting will showcase three of their whiskeys and two of their gins.

Where: Hugh O'Connors, Dincans 5010 Dincans Street, Houston, TX

When: April 6th, Sunday from 4 until we run out of whiskey

The event is open to the public. Tickets will be available at the event.

Tickets for the tasting: $35

Advanced tickets are available at gulfcoastirish.org/whiskey

Seatings are on the half hour, first come-first served.

Needless to say, you must be at least 21 years old to participate.

Also... Irish Music and Dancing

Hugh O'Connors will also have live music from the Houston Session players and Irish step dancing from Houston's Clann Kelly. Come enjoy a pint while you wait for your seating, or even if you aren't joining the whiskey tasting! No tickets needed to enjoy the music and dancing.

Faculty Connections

A column dedicated to Cruinniú instructor news and information .. by Laura Michaelides

Katie Geringer

We're pleased to bring Houston-based fiddler Katie Geringer back to the Cruinniú to teach fiddle fundamentals. This is a one- or three-day class tailored to classical violin players or fiddlers coming from other folk idioms who want to step into the Irish traditional style. Katie's music evolved from her classical training and her experiences performing bluegrass and old-time music in the southeast where she grew up. She then quickly gravitated towards Irish music and began listening, learning, and imitating as much as she could from notable players in the genre.

Katie holds a bachelor's degree in Music Education and a certificate in Violin Performance from Florida State University, as well as a master's degree in Traditional Irish Music Performance from the University of Limerick. While there, she competed at the Limerick County Fleadh and was awarded 1st place in the Senior Division. She has also toured the northeast and midwest US as a fiddle player for the Dublin Irish Dance production.

A passionate, thoughtful, and in-demand teacher, Katie has taught at summer camps, in-school workshops, the Irish Ensemble at Florida State University, the Houston School of Irish Music, the Gulf Coast Cruinniú, and the O'Flaherty Irish Music Retreat. She has also presented at the American String Teachers Association national conference on teaching Irish music authentically in the classroom. Katie is certified to teach the Rolland Method (Level 1), a method which uses healthy, relaxed movement to promote ease and fluidity in string playing. She also maintains an active private studio of both classical and Irish fiddle students.

Therese Honey

We're fortunate to have Therese Honey joining us to teach harp. She is a dynamic and motivating instructor who loves to share her knowledge of technique, repertoire, and musical history with her students. Workshop attendees can select a one- or three-day option to study harp at the Cruinniú with Therese. Her workshop is appropriate for both classical harpists who would like to try out a different genre and already involved with Irish traditional music.

An early childhood fascination with the harp later blossomed into a successful career as a professional harpist and recording artist for Therese. She studied for 14 years with Bea Rose, the principle harpist for the Houston Symphony, and Professor of Harp at the Moores School of Music at the University of Houston. She specializes in the early music of the Middle Ages, Renaissance and Baroque eras, as well as the music of Ireland, Scotland, and Wales.

Therese plays both Celtic, early, and classical pedal harps. She tours throughout the United States and has also performed in Ireland. She performs with the Texas Early Music Project \(TEMP\), and is a member of the band Wyndnwyre, which plays the traditional music of Ireland, Scotland, and Wales, as well as 13th c. Medieval music. She also occasionally joins forces with the early music ensemble Istanpitta.

Therese maintains an active teaching studio in the Houston area. In addition to her private practice, she does workshops on a variety of topics. Therese has recorded seven solo albums, has also collaborated with quite a number of other recording artists, and is also the author of seven books on the harp.
